English

Be a foodie poet!

Michael Rosen wrote a poem about Chocolate cake.

Can you write a poem about food/favourite meal(s)

It could be ...

- An acrostic poem or a rap.
- You could write a poem about all the food you like or dislike. Each line starts with
I like ....
But I don't like ...
- Try to keep the line length and rhythm the same.

Mathematics

Have you had your five a day?

Make sure you are counting five fruit and vegetables a day and keep count of each family member.

For all of your family members to have 5 fruits a day for a week, how many fruits would you need?

Science: It's a wrap!

Look through the kitchen. How many foods can you find that are in different packages. Can you group them into different materials? What categories will you use?

Write a brief explanation about why the packages may be different. Which one will work best and why?

Could you group the contents into solids/liquids/gases?

PSHE

What types of food do we enjoy eating as a family?

What foods are traditional to our family?

Think about the times when lots of people would eat to celebrate –make a list of (or create a picture of) 'when' and the types of food.

Why do you think food is important in celebrations?

Why should we eat well?
